Note Will Decline Bid Of Italians

Unofficial Observer May Be Sent to Economic Conference—Burden of Relief Rests on Europe, Government Heads Aver.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—The American government's reply on the invitation for this country to participate in the Genoa economic conference will be sent Wednesday, it was indicated following a conference at the White House between the president and Secretary Hughes.

It was believed that Secretary Hughes took the draft of this government's reply to the White House for the approval of the president.

DECLINE ATTENDANCE
Washington—The United States government within the next 24 hours will announce that it will not participate in the forthcoming Genoa economic conference, it was learned here Wednesday.

This announcement is expected to be made in a note worked out by President Harding and Secretary of State Hughes which will be a reply to the invitation from Italy for the United States to take part in the conference.

The American government may state its willingness to send an unofficial observer to the economic conference, scheduled to open on April 10, but such a course, it is pointed out, would not involve any active participation by this country.

In the reply to the Genoa invitation this government probably will set forth its views regarding the conference. While the United States holds deep sympathy for any sincere effort to remedy economic situation in Europe, it is held that the proposed work of the Genoa conference is solely of European concern.

The underlying and fundamental objection of the United States to the Genoa conference is said to be the opinion here that the large military forces maintained by the various nations constituting the conference are contributing to the cause of the economic plight of Europe and the drastic reduction of these forces is the first requisite to remedying this present European economic ills.

FREE STATE ARMY QUIETS LIMERICK

Republican Invaders Seem Loath to Start Threatened Attack on Garrison

By United Press Leased Wire
Limerick—Troops loyal to the free state provisional government held the upper hand here Wednesday. About 1,000 free state troops well armed and officers arrived overnight from county Clare.

Rebellious I. R. A. forces which threatened to attack the loyal garrison unless it evacuated Limerick before Wednesday morning, were apparently cowed by the preponderance of free state troops.

The rebels threatened "action" Wednesday. The youthful commander of the invading mid-Limerick troops was determined to enforce his ultimatum to the free state troops.

The chief fear Wednesday was lest the disaffection spreading in the town where the possibilities of trouble were greater even than here.

CUT JANESVILLE GAS RATE 10 CENTS

By United Press Leased Wire
Madison—Gas rates for Janesville were reduced 10 cents a thousand cubic feet by an order of the Wisconsin railroad commission, effective on gas delivered after the next meter reading.

The present net rate of $1.85 for the first step of gas delivered by the Wisconsin Gas and Light company of Janesville is reduced to $1.75, and succeeding steps by the same amount.

Co-Op Women Didn't Want Parker Held

By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Three hundred infuriated women, stockholders in the Cooperative Society of America, were held at bay by deputies with revolvers Wednesday when they stormed the federal building.

The women charged the courtroom of Judge Evans protesting issuance of a warrant for the arrest of Harrison Parker, former head of the society.

U.S. HAS NEW LAW PUZZLE TO ARGUE ABOUT

New Interpretation of Constitutional Body Appointment

By David Lawrence
(Copyright, 1922, by United Press)
Washington—Sometimes the American constitution is changed by amendment, and sometimes its meaning is developed by legal interpretation.

President Harding and the senate are in the midst of a controversy which may result in an unwritten amendment to the constitution and may vitally affect the constitutional system in the future.

A subcommittee of United States senators has just ruled that President Harding's appointments to the allied funding commission, namely Senator Smoot of Utah and Representative Burton of Ohio, are ineligible to hold office on new commission because of a constitutional provision which reads as follows:

"No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created by act of congress requiring confirmation by the senate after it gave the impression of a civil office though it probably differed from what the framers of the constitution had in mind."

LEGAL OPINIONS GAVE being quoted on both sides of the question and when Attorney General Daugherty went to the cabinet meeting Tuesday he gave what he termed a "curious opinion."

The "curious" opinion was one which hardly could come within the meaning of the constitution since the action of the funding commission would after all be the action of the president.

He admitted, however, that the fact that both Mr. Smoot and Mr. Burton were named for offices which by act of congress required confirmation by the senate did give the impression of a civil office though it probably differed from what the framers of the constitution had in mind.

TOWNLEY CASE IS TO BE DEFERRED

By United Press Leased Wire
Fargo, N. D.—The embezzlement case against Arthur C. Townley, president of the Nonpartisan league, will be indefinitely postponed.

Attorney General Johnson caused Townley's arrest upon his release from a Minnesota jail, accusing him through the county attorney here, of conspiring with J. J. Hastings in giving an alleged worthless note to the Scandinavian-American bank. The case was scheduled to come up Thursday.

Townley's attorney, W. F. Lauder of Washington, said Wednesday he will ask postponement. Attorney General Johnson said indefinite postponement would be necessary because of the press of official duties.

JURY TO GET CASE OF DELANEY TODAY

By United Press Leased Wire
Milwaukee—The conspiracy trial of Thomas A. Delaney and Joseph Ray, former prohibition officers, charged with accepting bribes, is expected to go to the jury some time Wednesday. Closing arguments to the jury were made by government and defense attorneys Wednesday morning.

Both Delaney and Ray were called to the stand late Tuesday for a grilling cross examination.

Russia To Apply For Huge Loan

Soviet Program Proposes International Loan of $500,000,000; Resumption of Trade; German Friendliness; Leniency.

By Edwin W. Hurlinger
(Copyright, 1922, by United Press)
Moscow—Soviet Russia will send a delegation to the Genoa economic conference with the following proposals and demands:

1. An international loan to Russia of $500,000,000.
2. European reconstruction to be accomplished by Russia supplying raw materials in exchange for foreign credits.

3. Germany must be permitted to cooperate freely with Russia.
4. The league of nations must not be forced upon Russia or the central empires.

A fifth Russian demand, namely for payment for damages caused by the vain campaigns of Kolchak and Denikin, will be incorporated in a soviet promise to pay the debts of former Russian governments.

It is with a business program of this sort that bolshevik envoys will appear at the council table at Genoa April 10. Proposals of the delegates will be materialistic and nationalistic—but not communistic. The "international" idea will be left in Moscow.

The Russian delegation, while recognizing it must of necessity take a comparatively minor place at Genoa has received its instructions not to submit to dictation. Rather than that Russia's enemies, France among them, should be allowed to dictate to the Kremlin's envoys are to withdraw.

CHOOSE TREATY OR WAR, LODGE SAYS

Anglo-Jap Alliance Will Survive if 4-power Pact Is Rejected, Senate Told

Washington—Senator Lodge Wednesday declared the senate must choose between the four-power Pacific treaty with naval limitation and peace, or a renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance, unlimited naval competition and war.

In a speech urging ratification of the four-power Pacific pact, Lodge said its acceptance is the only means of ending the Anglo-Japanese alliance making possible the naval holiday provided for in the 5-5-3 treaty. Defeat of the treaty, Lodge said would mean failure of the arms conference.

He left the inference that the United States could not ratify the naval limitation treaty if the four-power pact were not approved because the Anglo-Japanese alliance then would confront a reduced American navy.

The treaty, Lodge said, substitutes "the assurance of peace for the arrangements and calculations of war." At the same time it keeps the United States "clear of all alliances of any sort, which are in their very nature ultimate breeders of war and which always have hidden behind them penalties and force."

GET $29,515 FROM STATE FOR ROADS
A report of the apportionment of state road funds for Outagamie county was received Tuesday by A. G. Bruswitz, county highway commissioner. The state will pay the county $29,515.23 this year for road improvement.

This sum will be spent as follows: for patrol work, $23,500; marking highways, $850; repaving culverts, $200; painting and repair work on bridges, $1,100; reserve fund, $500; game maintenance, $3,365.23.

This money is the county's share of the state automobile license fund. Part of it, or $28,847.50 is from the 1922 fund and the balance, $667.73, remains from the 1921 license fund.

TAKAHASHI CABINET WEATHERS JAP STORM
Tokio—Overthrow of the cabinet of Premier Takahashi, which was threatened Tuesday by the government crisis growing out of disagreements on the new budget, seemed averted temporarily Wednesday.

The house of peers, which held a key position in the situation, yielded to the demands of the premier in passing items of the budget.

BOARD BESET BY PETITIONS FOR HIGHWAYS

Hortonville and Ellington Want Immediate Action on Their Roads

BIG DELEGATION HERE
Little Chute Supervisor Stirs Up Board by Recalling Past Deeds

Highway construction work played an important part in the opening of the winter session of the county board at the courthouse Tuesday afternoon. A delegation from Hortonville consisting of William Brown, president of the village, John Smith, George Schafer, Enoch Oils, Elmer Graef, Vernon Klein, Isadore Scholl, Oscar Schultz, Irvin Schmidt, M. Schroeder, Leland Dabehner, George Jones, Robert Kluge, Melvin Davis and E. B. Lewis appeared before the board in the interest of having Wolf river-rd. in Hortonville, which extends into the town of Liberty, improved at once.

President Brown and John Smith addressed the board briefly calling attention of the supervisors to the necessity of having the highway improved before the frost is out of the ground. The road was graded some time ago and was left in that condition. In its present condition, the speakers said, it was driving most of the residents of that part of the county to New London to do their shopping and they requested that the road be given a coating of gravel without delay in order to make it passable for rural carriers and traffic generally during the spring months.

ELLINGTON WANTS ACTION
The Greenville-Shoctor-rd. in the town of Ellington was also in the spotlight for half an hour. Attention to it was directed by John Tracy, who inquired what had been done with reference to it. As he recalled, it was the original intention to improve it with a 8-foot pavement, but through a "gentlemen's agreement" with residents of the town the width was increased to 16 feet, the town volunteering to donate the difference.

Werner of Ellington said the work was only partially completed and as soon as it is finished he expected his town would keep its agreement. At a recent election the town decided to raise $10,000 for that purpose.

JANSEN OBJECTS
This brought Anton Jansen, supervisor of the village of Little Chute, to his feet who recalled when the taxpayers of his village wanted the pavement of their main thoroughfare widened from 16 to 24 feet the extra cost was assessed to abutting property. P. H. Ryan moved the clerk be instructed to look up county records concerning the Ellington highway and Anton Jansen amended it by requesting that the town also look up its records and report. The motion was carried.

Petitions for the improvement of certain highways and the placing of others on the county patrol system were referred to the county, state road and bridge committee.

A communication from the town of Grand Chute requesting that John Merritt be permitted to serve during the session in the absence of C. B. Ballard, who was unable to be present, was acted upon favorably.

Killed In Mexico
Washington—An American citizen, Alvin Mathern, was murdered Sunday night by unknown assailants at Los Naranjos in the state of Vera Cruz, Mexico, the state department announced Wednesday.

Holstein Road Picked As Name For Highway

How is that for a name for a country highway?
Next summer when the concrete roads to the north are crowded and you start north from Calmes corners you start north, traveled highway, with your automobile, you will see an attractive sign announcing that you are on "Holstein-rd." and as you go further you will find that at least five farmers will display signs telling you who they are and that their address is "Holstein-rd."

This all came about when 14 farmers got together at an informal meeting at the home of John Paltzer last week, armed also with the sanction of any action they took from neighbors who could not come. Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent of First National bank, acted as chairman and explained to the prime movers why the 3-mile highway from Calmes corners north ought to be called Holstein-rd.

It was found that along this stretch of road there were homes of 25 farmers, 20 of whom have Holstein cattle, and explained to the farmers that the name "Holstein-rd." was a misnomer, now that the county has the trunk system rearranged and the main Freedom highway is over a concrete route most of the way.

A petition was prepared and signed

Fear Silence Of Operators Is Signal For Mine Strike

Men Ready To Confer, Lewis Says

Miners Do Not Want Strike but Are Determined Mine Owners Shall Hold to Former Agreement to Confer on Wage Scales.

By John L. Lewis
International President, United Mine Workers of America
Indianapolis, Ind.—The United Mine Workers of America will enter a conference with the operators of the central competitive field if such a conference is called by Secretary of Labor Davis. That has been our attitude all along and it will continue to be our position. We have been ready ever since this controversy started to confer with the operators in an effort to reach an agreement and the only reason this has not happened is that certain groups of operators have flatly and bluntly refused to meet with the miners, although they agreed in writing in New York on March 31, 1920, that they would so meet prior to April 1, 1922.

DON'T WANT STRIKE
The miners do not want a suspension of work on the first of April and we shall continue to do what we have done from the start, and that is to put forth every honorable effort to avert such a suspension. If a suspension occurs it will be through no fault of the miners. When President Harding directed Secretary of Labor Davis to call on the coal operators to meet the miners in joint conference he recognized on behalf of the government the justice of the miners' demand that the operators live up to their written agreement. He recognized the refusal of the operators as being an assault upon the fundamental principles of business morality, which require every business man or corporation to fulfill his obligations. It is only the dishonorable business man who refuses to respect his own contracts. So, President Harding and the government have given full sanction and approval to the principle of collective bargaining between employer and employee.

DANGER OF FLOOD AT SUNNY POINT IS PAST
Milwaukee—The danger of the Milwaukee river overflowing its banks and causing serious flood damage to Sunny Point, was believed past Wednesday.

A rise of four feet was noted Tuesday night and it was thought with the continual melting of snow and ice, the community would be inundated before morning, but Wednesday all indications are that danger of a flood is practically over.

MURDER OF CHINAMAN IN MINNEAPOLIS HURLS SCARE INTO CHINATOWN GROUP
By United Press Leased Wire
Minneapolis—The tongue which started a Chicago riot two days ago hit the Minneapolis Chinese colony Tuesday night.

Mysterious killing of a Chinese at the foot of a stairway to the Hip Sing Tong club rooms on Third-ave., south, set police to work. Four shots were fired. The assassin threw the body in a snow bank twenty feet away.

The dead man was identified by cards and papers in his pockets as Lee Ilen Yuen. He is about 35 years old.

About 25 Chinese playing cards in the Sang Yuen Importing company's store were huddled in a corner when police arrived. The shots frightened them, they said. All claimed never to have seen the dead man before.

'RUN' SENDS STOCK CONCERN TO WALL
By United Press Leased Wire
Chicago—Kriebel and company, $5,000,000 concern dealing in stocks on the installment plan, was in the hands of a receiver Wednesday.

Assets were estimated at from $3,200,000 to $4,000,000 and liabilities $5,000,000.

Recent failures in New York forced a "run" on the company, it was said. Branches were operated in St. Paul, Duluth, Minneapolis and Detroit.

IF I LOST VALUABLES
BY GO GETTER
I found a gold pencil the other day. I looked through The Post-Crescent "Lost and Found" Want Ads and there, sure enough, was an advertisement for the very pencil I had found.

Now I know what to do if ever I lose anything—advertise for it in The Post-Crescent. Maybe you think this isn't a way to make money, but it is. Finding lost articles saves the price of replacing them with new. Money saved is money made, you know.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR TREE REPAIR BOOK

A heavy demand set in immediately after the Post-Crescent appeared on the streets Tuesday evening for the United States department of agriculture booklet on "Tree Surgery" which this newspaper is giving away free to all who ask for them. These valuable pamphlets, which give expert, detailed advice on the care of trees damaged by the storm, may be obtained free by calling at the Post-Crescent office or by addressing the editor, enclosing a 2-cent postage stamp to cover the cost of mailing.

Five hundred of these books have been received from the department of agriculture. The supply is limited so it behooves everyone who needs advice on care of trees to apply for his copy at once.

The book was compiled by J. Franklin Collins, forest pathologist of the department of agriculture. It contains 31 pages, with many illustrations, of detailed methods of caring for damaged trees. Among the many topics treated are the danger of neglected tree wounds, surgery work, sterilizing and waterproofing tree wounds, cavity work, excavating, guying of bent limbs, what trees are worth repairing, and care of scars.

Each one of these topics and many more besides are treated fully and in language which the layman will understand. These books probably are the best available on the subject. They are not designed to make expert tree surgeons out of their readers but will give anyone sufficient knowledge of trees surgery to make ordinary repairs on damaged trees.

You had better make requisition for one of these books now before they are all gone.

HARDING'S WORDS ON BONUS CREATE NEW CONFUSION

Congressmen Are Trying to Interpret Stand Taken When Bill Is Introduced

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—The soldier bonus situation in congress was again in a state of confusion Wednesday although republican members of the ways and means committee have agreed on a compensation measure. The few words which President Harding let drop to newspapermen at the White House Tuesday framing what may be regarded as a formal notice that he would veto the certificate plan bonus if it is passed by congress, has thrown the entire bonus question back on the rocks of uncertainty—exactly where it has been for the last two months.

"What the president really said," Congressman Nicholas Longworth, who is close to Harding, told the United Press Wednesday, "was that he stands where he has always stood—that is—that if the bonus has to be financed it must be financed by a sales tax. The present bonus bill requires no financing, at the present time and there is no reason to believe the president will oppose it."

Others held Harding meant to express his opposition to the loan plan in the bill.

MADALYNNE IS TO BARE LOVE AFFAIR

Expected Her Testimony Will Bring Accusation for Murder of Kennedy

By United Press Leased Wire
Los Angeles—Madalynne Obenchain herself was to take the stand Wednesday afternoon in her trial for alleged complicity with Arthur C. Burch in the shooting of John Belmont Kennedy.

She will tell for the first time, the true story of her tangled and tragic romance with the young broker who was murdered at Beverly Glen, her attorneys asserted.

"I am ready," Madalynne said, as court opened. "I have waited and prayed for this day, when I can tell my story. It will be a strain, for I am not very well, but it cannot compare with the terrible, draining suspense of the past months."

"I am going to tell some things I have never even breathed before. I know I shall be acquitted."

SLEUTH'S READY GUN KILLS NEGRO BANDIT

By United Press Leased Wire
Minneapolis, Minn.—A negro bandit pressed his gun against the cheek of Detective Rudolph Bisanz Tuesday night and was killed.

Bisanz had been assigned to seek bandits in a section on Third street, south, and was sauntering along with his hand on his gun in his overcoat pocket. The negroes approached. One of them demanded Bisanz throw up his hands. The detective fired and the man fell back, firing as he went. The bullet split the negro's heart. He was identified as Frank Bullock, alias Smith, accused of several hold ups. His companion Ivaros Giles stood petrified and was immediately arrested.

Few Accept U. S. Bid In Two Week

General Feeling is That Walk-out Cannot Be Averted When Wage Agreements Expire April 1 Unless Factions Meet.

By Paul R. Mallon
By United Press Leased Wire
Washington.—Hope of averting the nationwide coal strike faded materially Wednesday with failure of the operators and miners to respond to the suggestion of President Harding that the warring parties meet in conference before the walkout, scheduled for April 1.

Secretary of Labor Davis, who issued invitations, confessed he had made "progress" but tacitly confessed the conference was far from a reality. It is believed the operators have failed to respond to the suggestions which were sent out nearly two weeks ago.

CAN'T AVERT TRIKE
The general feeling in government circles now is that the strike will not be averted.

Faith is still held by Davis that the opposing factions may consent to a national meeting. However, he sent out his suggestions nearly two weeks ago and only a few responses have been received.

The operators are understood to oppose the national conference on the ground that it is impractical.

The government can do nothing if the miners and operators refuse to meet in national conference, it is believed by officials here. The public will suffer no direct effects of the strike for several weeks due to preparations which have been made for the operation of nonunion mines in case of a strike and the vast amount of coal which has been "hoarded" by manufacturers and others.

In the event of a strike, the efforts of the federal government probably will be concentrated on protection of life and property, with continued insistence that the operators and miners get together and settle their differences.

ACCEPT CONFERENCE BID
St. Louis—Illinois coal operators will attend the joint conference of operators and miners to be called by Secretary of Labor Davis in the hope of averting a scheduled nationwide coal strike April 1.

This statement was made Wednesday by W. K. Kavanaugh, president of the fifth and ninth Illinois districts of the Coal Operators association.

BOYS TESTIFY THEY BOUGHT MOONSHINE

Two 17 year-old boys testified for the state in municipal court Wednesday afternoon at the trial of Arthur Kappell of Kaukauna on a charge of bootlegging.

The boys said they had frequently bought "moonshine" in pit lots both from Kappell and his wife. When they bought it from Kappell, they said, it cost them $1 a pint but when Mrs. Kappell sold it to them she charged $1.50. In order to get the liquor, they said, they had to go to the house and they declared they had seen what resembled a still in the kitchen.

Counsel for Kappell asked a continuation of the trial until evidence for the defense could be secured. This request was granted by the court.

LARGE OKLAHOMA BANK IS FORCED TO CLOSE

By United Press Leased Wire
Oklahoma City, Okla.—The Wilk-Hall State bank here, the largest institution of its kind in the state, closed its doors Wednesday.

The bank was capitalized at $200,000 and had deposits of approximately $2,000,000.

No reason for the failure of the bank was given.

NTY BOOKS IN GOOD CONDITION. AUDITORS REPORT

Shway Commission Records
Not Adequate for Keeping
Good Accounts

In their annual audit of the books of the various institutions and departments of Outagamie county, ending Dec. 31, 1921, which was submitted to the county board at its opening session Tuesday afternoon, Reilly, Penner & Benton said:

"We have audited the records and supervised the entries during the year submitting monthly reports of cash transactions. The receipts of all departments have been properly accounted for and all disbursements made upon proper authority.

"We again invite your attention to the charges against the municipalities for the care of the poor. There have been practically no collections of these accounts although several have been added during the year.

"The tax balance of $1,622.90 due from the city of Appleton, levy of 1914, is still carried on the books. We have previously recommended that this item be referred to the attorney for advice as to proper procedure. If the tax cannot be collected or assessed back the item should be written off.

COLLECT FROM TOWNS

"During the course of our monthly work we have examined the records of the highway office. These records are not adequate for keeping satisfactory accounts of monies due the county and we find a number of instances where collections were possible from towns for work done.

"These were referred to the highway office which took steps to collect them resulting in cash recoveries of over $5,000. We are of the opinion that the records could be improved although the records now in use are perfectly maintained."

The report shows the current assets to be:

County treasurer's balance, $6,612.65; tax certificates owned by county, $9,034.85; marriage licenses fees from county clerk, $55; uncollected personal property tax due, $115.23; city of Appleton balance due levy 1914, $1,622.90; refund due from village of Kimberly, $11.77; poor claims due from other municipalities, $1,936.95; total, $29,819.38.

TRADE UNIONISM IS SUBJECT FOR COLLEGE DEBATE

Lawrence and Albion Colleges
Will Discuss Closed
Shop Principle

Because Albion college is sending its best team here Friday night to debate with Lawrence on the question, "Resolved that the closed shop is putting forth every effort to win the decision," the Lawrence affirmative team will claim that the closed shop is justifiable while the Albion negative team will talk against it.

Since the question of closed and open shop is of vital importance to the working man as well as his employer, the debate is being held in Lawrence, Minn. in order to accommodate all who may wish to attend. Members of labor unions and those who oppose unionism are especially invited to hear these speakers who have spent the greater part of two months reading and discussing the problem from all angles.

This will be the only college debate in Appleton during the year. The Lawrence negative team will leave Thursday for Cornell college at Mt. Vernon, Iowa, to meet the Cornell team Friday night. The same team will make a trip as far west as Denver, Minn. to debate with the Cornell team beginning at Macalester in St. Paul on March 13. The trip includes debates at Dakota Wesleyan in Mitchell, S. D., March 21, Nebraska Wesleyan at Lincoln, Neb., March 23 and Colorado Springs, March 25.

Judges for the debate in Appleton on Friday evening will be Prof. A. P. Haake of the University of Wisconsin, Dr. J. H. Hicks, Oshkosh, former attorney general; W. G. Watson, Whitefish, Wis., and Prof. F. W. Orr will accompany the negative team to Cornell.

FURS AND MYSTERY

BY A. CARSTENSEN

If, through some enlightening miracle, the animals whose pelts are on display in unreliable fur dealer's stores could return to life and get back into their own skins one would witness the world's greatest living collection of misfits and mismatches.

For instance, we would find some poor, puny little fox tripping over his own skin, which fit him like a glove before being so tremendously "expanded" after removal from his body.

Then, too, we'd find a group of muskies strutting about in the skins they once wore, but which, through a variety of treatments and dyes, had taken on the appearance of seal, mink, sable and such like, and whose names they now brazenly bear.

Again, we'd see the little South American coypu, whose trade name is nutria, trying to discover what had happened to its former coat and why it now bore a tag of beaver.

Perhaps the raccoons would feel flattered on seeing their own pelts labeled lynx, and maybe our old friends the opossums would feel the same way about their coats being classed as stone marten.

Certainly the army of rabbits that would have to be on hand to fill the many skins they once wore would be bewildered at the great variety of colors and names under which their former jackets now went, just as Maria and Thomas Cat would ponder over the change that had befallen the garment they'd worn through nine eventful lives.

Besides all this we'd undoubtedly see innumerable animals, each the lowliest of its class, climbing back into their inferior outer garments which after having been well "doctored" were marked "first quality."

For while it's true enough that the leopard cannot change its spots, we've found that man can certainly make a first class job of it after said leopard's demise.

And so, in an allegorical manner, we want out to you, friend reader, a few of the many serious substitutions which occur, and warn you in all sincerity to—

Beware of the Wolf in Sheep's Clothing!

Again, we'd see the little South American coypu, whose trade name is nutria, trying to discover what had happened to its former coat and why it now bore a tag of beaver.

Perhaps the raccoons would feel flattered on seeing their own pelts labeled lynx, and maybe our old friends the opossums would feel the same way about their coats being classed as stone marten.

Certainly the army of rabbits that would have to be on hand to fill the many skins they once wore would be bewildered at the great variety of colors and names under which their former jackets now went, just as Maria and Thomas Cat would ponder over the change that had befallen the garment they'd worn through nine eventful lives.

Besides all this we'd undoubtedly see innumerable animals, each the lowliest of its class, climbing back into their inferior outer garments which after having been well "doctored" were marked "first quality."

For while it's true enough that the leopard cannot change its spots, we've found that man can certainly make a first class job of it after said leopard's demise.

And so, in an allegorical manner, we want out to you, friend reader, a few of the many serious substitutions which occur, and warn you in all sincerity to—

Beware of the Wolf in Sheep's Clothing!

COLDER WEATHER NIPS MINIATURE FLOOD IN CREEK

Overflows Banks

Kaukauna. — The sudden change in temperature Monday evening was a big factor in preventing a small stream which trickles past the ball grounds and is commonly known as "Cobble Creek" in a few hours became a river several feet deep carrying huge chunks of ice over the roads and flooding the ball grounds when the ice cakes became jammed under the bridge in such a way that the water was prevented from passing under it on its way to the river.

Ice cakes several feet square and more than a foot thick were strewn along the road to Beaulieu Hill Tuesday morning. The stream back watered and flooded the flood for several hundred feet in the direction of John Coppes saloon across the road from the ball park.

Street commissioners took charge of the matter Tuesday morning and a few blasts of dynamite cleared the ice from the tunnel of the bridge. Under ordinary conditions the water is not more than eight inches to a foot deep. The opening under the bridge is about 10 feet high and the water Tuesday had raised to within a foot of the top. Ice cakes were piled up along the bank of the stream to a height of several feet.

A small sized flood of "Cobble Creek" occurs nearly every season. It entirely cuts off the residents of Beaulieu Hill from the rest of the city. Men are unable to get to work and children cannot get through to school. Several years ago boats were drafted into service to take people across the flooded stretch of water.

ROGERS SUGGESTS NEW VARIETIES OF ORNAMENTAL TREES

Lawrence College Expert Gives Advice on Replacement of Damaged Trees

Replacement of trees damaged by the storm of a few days ago is discussed in the third of a series of articles on tree surgery by Dr. Walter E. Rogers, head of the botany department of Lawrence college. Dr. Rogers suggests that new varieties of trees be given a trial when the damaged trees are replaced.

Following is the third of the articles:

In deciding the question of whether to replace a storm damaged tree or remove it the owner must recognize the fact that the tree may be at the end of its usefulness even though it is not completely broken down.

Trees differ much in their powers of regenerating lost parts. For example, the poplars and soft maples are able to develop a new crown after having been completely "dehorned." The elms and evergreens on the other hand have great difficulty in recovering from the effects of severe pruning. These trees more over have a characteristic form and symmetry which cannot be lost without robbing the tree of half its value for city planting. If it is apparent that the tree is too severely injured to stage a comeback with any marked degree of success the advisability of its removal becomes at once obvious. The question of replacement is then left in order.

SOME STREETS CROWDED

Not all the trees lost in the storm should be replaced. Some sections of our streets have been too closely planted. Crowding interferes with the symmetry of trees and with their nutrition. Crowded parts usually die prematurely and this leads to decay. A good rule to follow is that of spacing the trees so that the crowns when mature are separated by distances of one to several feet. Where trees have been grown so close together that they have crowded one another the storm damaged individuals may well be removed without being replaced. But when there is no danger of crowding and when the tree has supplied desirable shade or has added to the attractiveness of the locality it should be replaced.

What kind of tree should be substituted? The owner may put in place a tree of the kind removed or he may use an entirely different kind. A decision on this point should be reached with several important factors clearly in mind. These factors are the primary need for the tree, whether for shade or ornament; the space available; the rapidity of growth desired; and the desirability of danger of harmful conditions to which plants may be exposed.

CHOICE OF A TREE

As a city tree the American elm has always been a prime favorite. Its fairly rapid growth and high arching crown have won for it a well deserved popularity and thus, streets of streets are planted to it almost exclusively.

The soft maples too have been much used for street planting, largely on account of their rapid growth. The maples and elms often constitute the majority of our city trees. Several facts seem to indicate that in the future our plantings should include a greater number of kinds of trees. A variety would make our streets more interesting and attractive. The soft maples are continually being broken by storms and are subject to rapid decay. The elms are susceptible to the attacks of insect pests which have made a clean sweep of these trees in certain localities in the east and are now apparently working into the Middle West. Chicago has already suffered from their ravages and we may expect an invasion sooner or later. With a greater variety of trees in our plantings we may expect to suffer less from the effects of any given destructive agent than if our trees are all of the kind affected. This is not an indictment of the elms and soft maples but a plea for more variety.

Among the forms adapted for the city streets are the various oaks, the lindens, the Norway and Sycamore maples, and the walnut. Probably the tulip tree, the American sycamore and the hackberry would be found suited to our climate and these

BIG INCREASE IN FREIGHT BUSINESS

More freight is being handled in Appleton at present than at any time since the war due to the tieup caused by the storm ten days ago. No freight in Fox river valley was moved for nearly a week and the accumulation was such that it will require several days to get things in a normal condition.

The freight depots are filled to overflowing, although draymen are working overtime delivering, and the sidetracks of paper manufacturers and coal dealers are filled up with cars of coal waiting to be unloaded. Pulpwood also is arriving in large quantities.

would make exceedingly attractive additions to our street flora.

For planting in lawns and parks we have a much larger number from which to choose. In addition to those above named there are the locusts, catalpas, ashes, birches, hickories and several others. All do well in our climate. A number of smaller forms such as the service berry and choke cherry are also highly prized as ornamentals.

PLANTING THE TREES
The actual setting out of the trees is often done by the nursery from which the stock is purchased, but the owner may do the work himself if he utilizes good judgment in the selection of method.

Planting is best done as soon as the frost is out of the ground. The tree makes its best growth in early spring and the period of rapid growth is the best time for establishing relations with the soil. The hole for the tree should be roomy and the dirt should be well packed about the roots.

A tree is always pruned before planting, and usually the more severe the pruning the more chance for the planting to be successful. The planter however should not fall into the common mistake of pruning off the end of the main axis. An important principle to be followed in the growing of shade and ornamental trees of the ordinary type, is the principle of conserving the main axis. The tree tends to spread out as soon as the main axis is broken or broken up and usually it is desirable that a city tree should spread out only at a considerable height. The pruning then should be confined to the side shoots at the time of planting. After the tree has grown and the main axis is spreading into a crown above the lower pruned branches may be removed entirely.

It is important to remember that the proper control of the form of the tree is best effected by topping when the tree is young. This is away with the necessity of lopping off large limbs when the tree is older, an operation which is more expensive and attended by greater danger to the tree.

BEGIN CAMPAIGN FOR RUSS RELIEF

The Outagamie county committee of the Russian Famine Relief has begun its campaign to raise funds for the millions of children who are suffering in the Russian regions. The committee includes the Rev. H. E. Peabody, and A. G. Oosterhouse of Appleton, A. E. Tink and John McNaughton of Kaukauna, L. H. Waite of Seymour and F. R. O'Hanlon of Dale. The week beginning March 5 is Famine week.

The work, which is being done by volunteer service in this district as well as all over the country is an attempt to procure not only money, but food, clothing and medicines which will be shipped to Russia where they will be distributed. The distribution will be made by the Russian Red Cross under the direction of American committees.

The movement was started by congressmen who realized the need for Russian relief. It is being endorsed by clergymen from all churches and laymen as well. Special speakers have been procured to bring the people to the fore. Organizers are also at work in Wisconsin to bring the people to do what they can for more than 7,000,000 Russian children.

WANT MERCHANTS TO TRIM WINDOWS FOR STYLE WEEK

Advertising Club Offers Prizes
for Cleanest and Neatest
Display

Window trimmers in the city will be racking their brains next week during the spring style show for original ideas to make clever and effective window displays in every store and shop.

The incentive for this will be several substantial prizes which are to be given for best trimmed and cleanest show windows. A prize is to be given the store presenting the best front in every line of business. Beauty of window displays alone will not be the deciding factor in awarding a prize but the general appearance of the whole store front will be taken into consideration.

"It is the intention of the Appleton Advertising club," said John Mullen, advertising manager at the Genes

USE SULPHUR TO HEAL YOUR SKIN

Broken Out Skin and Itching Eczema
Helped Over Night

For unsightly skin eruptions, rash or blotches on face, neck, arms or body, you do not have to wait for relief from torture or embarrassment. Apply a little Mentho-Sulphur and improvement shows next day.

Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation. The moment you apply it, healing begins. Only those who have had unsightly skin troubles can know the delight this Mentho-Sulphur brings. Even fiery, itching eczema is dried right up.

Get a small jar from any good druggist and use it like cold cream.

Dry Goods Co., to have every line of business in the city enter into the spirit of making this style week a time for showing the new things for 1922. In order that the new merchandise may show off to the best advantage it is necessary for every merchant to "dress up a bit," that is, to give his store a general cleaning inside and out and to make a real effort to have his show windows look at their best.

"Let every merchant cooperate and get behind the 'dress up' movement."

No doubt at that time the city will be crowded with out of town visitors and Appleton business houses must look as if they made a special effort to have style week a real success. Let's go."

Competent judges will be named to award the prizes for the best windows and public announcement will be made of the names of winners.

CLEVELAND SIX

The individual style and unusual beauty of the new Cleveland Six are conceded by everyone. This advertisement will convince you that the car is as fine mechanically as it is in appearance.

THE most important mechanical unit in any car is the motor. The Cleveland Six exclusive motor, built in its own shops, is the culmination of six years intensive effort. In design and in details it is as fine a piece of engineering as will be found under the hood of any car.

Power with flexibility, durability and efficiency, are the qualities that make the Cleveland Six motor the most highly refined of the overhead-valve type. This motor is so designed that it actually develops 58 per cent of its 45 horse-power at twenty miles per hour. Few motors develop more than forty per cent of their power at this speed.

The Cleveland Six gives more power when you need power most (for quick acceleration, hill climbing, or for the long hard pull) than is obtainable in most other motors.

Power With Economy

THE remarkable fuel economy of the Cleveland Six is largely due to the unique straight-line manifold which is cast integral with the cylinder head. Gas travels the shortest possible distance from carburetor to cylinders and as the manifold is evenly heated throughout its entire length, condensation is eliminated at all points in its travel.

This feature insures quick starting, complete combustion and means high power with economy, at all speeds. It also reduces carbon deposit, which is further minimized by completely machining the combustion chambers to a smooth finish.

Balanced Pistons of New Design

LIGHT WEIGHT pistons are of the latest design and all six machined to the same exact weight. Conventional design has been improved by the addition of three V-shaped grooves which have a wiping action on the down-stroke to prevent oil from working past the three rings to foul the spark plugs and form carbon.

All Motor Parts Easily Accessible

THE Cleveland Six motor is built to function continuously and efficiently with a minimum of attention and the least necessity for adjustment. Lubrication has been made positive at all points. The silent chain drive for camshaft and pump can be adjusted from the outside of the motor case. The crank case can be drained by a lever under the hood.

Quietness, smoothness, absence of vibration at all speeds, quick pick-up, and plentiful power combined with very slow depreciation and long life.

Your Cleveland Six will be an efficient, economical, mechanically excellent car even after many seasons use—because it is built to last.

Silent Valves That Never Stick
IN the Cleveland Six the admitted advantage and efficiency of overhead-valve design is advanced to its highest point. Valves and stems are completely surrounded by water and being evenly cooled from all sides they can not warp and stick. They are actuated by double springs insuring quietness and eliminating clatter or vibration.

The valve lifters are fitted with large, accurately ground rollers, and the entire valve mechanism, including rocker shaft, rocker arms, valve stems, etc., is completely enclosed and thoroughly lubricated by wicks through which oil is fed from two large cups on the top of the engine.

Power With Economy
THE remarkable fuel economy of the Cleveland Six is largely due to the unique straight-line manifold which is cast integral with the cylinder head. Gas travels the shortest possible distance from carburetor to cylinders and as the manifold is evenly heated throughout its entire length, condensation is eliminated at all points in its travel.

This feature insures quick starting, complete combustion and means high power with economy, at all speeds. It also reduces carbon deposit, which is further minimized by completely machining the combustion chambers to a smooth finish.

Balanced Pistons of New Design
LIGHT WEIGHT pistons are of the latest design and all six machined to the same exact weight. Conventional design has been improved by the addition of three V-shaped grooves which have a wiping action on the down-stroke to prevent oil from working past the three rings to foul the spark plugs and form carbon.

PETITFOGGING RESERVATIONISTS

Mr. Bryan gives the Democrats in the senate sound advice when he tells them to keep their hands off the four-power treaty and to assist in its ratification without change. The four-power treaty may or may not be in line with Wilson policies, but the Democrats would only compromise themselves by becoming a party to the campaign of opposition which is seeking to defeat the treaty or to load it down with reservations that will nullify it. The Democrats will strengthen themselves far more by supporting this treaty than they will by placing obstacles in its path.

The leaders of the foreign relations committee, aided and abetted by certain other partisans on the floor, are acting like a lot of schoolboys in the Lilliputian attempt to tie the treaty down with strings. They are going about with microscopes to find flaws in the phraseology, or to distort its purpose by twisting the English language into something it does not and cannot mean. The argument that the United States is bound in a defensive alliance to the extent that congress and the president lose their control over questions of policy and the use of force, amounts to a runaway of the imagination. Any person who can read and write can see for himself that the treaty obligates the United States to do nothing in the conflict with its constitutional processes. Every reservation proposed is petty, irrelevant and superfluous.

The opposition to the treaty, including the reservationists, proceeds on the theory that the United States is bounded on the east by the Atlantic ocean, on the west by the Pacific, on the south by the Gulf of Mexico and on the north by Canada, and must forever remain so. It proceeds on the assumption that we have no interests outside these boundaries anywhere in the world, that we must live within our shell and never come out of it, save as tourists and sightseers. It is the policy of isolation and non-entanglement carried to the nth degree of absurdity.

If the president submits to the threats of the bitter-enders it will be a confession of one of three things: that the president, his secretary of state and members of the American delegation at the arms conference were incompetent to draw up a treaty for the purposes intended, and are ignorant of the real meaning of the document they have negotiated; or that they are not acting in good faith toward the senate and are ready to pretend to alter the treaty without in fact changing its meaning; or that they acted in bad faith toward the governments with which the treaty is made, and are now going back on their promises. A reservation, to mean anything, involves the president in one of these three unenviable positions. Are we to understand that the president and his state department were humiliated, that they are humbling the senate or that they gold-bricked the three powers with which the agreement is made?

It is time the president took things into his own hands and dealt the petitfogging reservationists a blow that will silence them once and for all. We do not see how any other course is open if the self-respect of the state department and the administration is to be preserved.

MAKING TOWN FOREST PAY THE TAXES

Many towns in Europe own a forest. Switzerland has 67 per cent of all her forests under town or communal ownership. These forests support the town and pay the taxes. Why do not the towns in this country do the same thing? In an article in "Wood Turning" by Austin F. Hawes, we find this statement, which shows how the thing works:

The town of Petersham, like every New England town, has had a poor farm for upwards of a century, but lately there have been no paupers to inhabit it. The town fathers thought they might sell the farm of 250 acres for $10,000, but they have been so impressed with a demonstration at Harvard that they consulted Professor Fisher about their plan. He has persuaded them to keep it as a source of town income, and has just sold off 13 acres of stumpage for $5,200. As there were some patches of soft maple in this area, the stand of white pine runs about 40,000 feet per acre. The trees are 60 to 65 years old, and the better ones are cutting six 12-foot logs, scaling over 500 feet per tree. Two excellent workmen were cutting 3,000 feet of logs a day from this lot when the writer visited it. It is estimated this town forest can produce a total income of $50,000 and still be a going proposition. At present only about 150 acres are covered with pine, but the remaining 100 acres will be planted.

There is certainly a good proposition. Fitchburg, Mass., is said to have the first legally established town forest in the United States. The time has come in the depletion of our forest reserves when tree-culture can be undertaken with profit. Those towns, counties and states which have the foresight to engage in reforestation today will in years to come be the envy of those which do not, and they will lessen the load of their taxpayers and add to the public resources.

WHAT IS A LIVING WAGE?

Two hundred working women of Topoka, armed with feminine anger, visited a store of their city and voiced their resentment at a statement attributed to a witness for employers before the Kansas Industrial court that any of them could get along on $87.55 a year for clothing. The Amazonian host, marching as a surprise unit, attacked a second objective after clattering with sharp heels over a pair of twenty-five cent cotton stockings.

As far as the estimate of $87.55 a year was concerned, they could have been more convincing with less fury. Some of the details of the estimate could have been torn to shreds. For instance, the employer's witness was quoted as saying that a working girl needs a new dollar umbrella once in two years, and figured fifty cents a year as the cost of keeping the rain off millinery and pretty cheeks. Merely mentioning this absurd detail would have ridiculed the $87.55 computation as a bargain-fancy.

The head of the court's welfare department, Miss Alice MacFarland, put the year's dress budget at $206.76, although it is not likely that she added, as she should have done, "more or less," for that seventy-six cents looks too arbitrary to withstand a belligerent attorney's cross-questioning.

The excitement results from an inquiry which the commission is conducting all over the state to determine whether $16.50 should be specified as the minimum weekly wage for women. Some experts testified that $858 a year is just exactly enough, even including expenditures for cosmetics, whereas others maintained that it is excessive.

The pay of every woman who has to support herself would better be too much than too little. The least that a working woman can live on respectably, dressing well and saving a little, is a difficult question. But it should be a matter of conscience with every employer to see that she is paid not only enough to be healthy and comfortable, but to maintain her self-respect and plan for ultimate marriage.

"What is a living wage?" is a question which experts answer differently. The necessary minimum wage is not the same for all persons. In some families several persons contribute to the upkeep of the home; in others, one person earns the living for all. Some women work for part-time, or spending money, or because they do not like to stay at home. Other women, self-dependent, must support themselves and save against old age or contingencies. Conscience is an element in regard to establishing the minimum wage.

The Wireless Telephone

Wireless telephony is only in its infancy, and it is impossible to predict how far it will go. There is one very important service that it will render, and that is to permit people living in country districts to enjoy music and lectures and addresses delivered in city centers. This concert and opera will be made possible by the use of a range of wireless telephony. People living in remote places will sit in their living rooms and hear masterpieces of music played in the big city concert halls. Political orators will have messages conveyed over the country through radio instruments. Thus one more step will be taken to break down the isolation of rural localities, and people who are a long distance from their neighbors will be in close touch with the world of activity in centers of population.

Such methods of communication must be a boon to invalids and shut-ins and elderly people, who are cut off by inability to attend public gatherings. The wireless telephone will bring into their secluded rooms the activity of the outside world, and their life will seem less limited. Such folks will enjoy church services without stirring from their homes, a development like this is not merely a scientific marvel, but it will do wonders to keep people in touch with the movements of the times.—ST. ## MAKE IT SNAPPY

Proponents of what is called supervised play in the field of physical education often teach that unless exercise is made amusing or pleasurable it is of little health value. This is an error. Even the exercise is a hateful duty—and hateful it is to the people who need it most—it is nevertheless of great health value. The truth of the matter is that the health interest is to be encouraged simply because it makes some persons take exercise who might otherwise neglect it. With all due consideration for the psychological bearing of play interest, but without forgetting the physiological aspect, I think one derives the same benefit from running a mile whether he is trying to catch the last train home or just "working." One absorbs exactly the same amount of oxygen while inflating a tire on a hot dusty road with a wife offering suggestions as he does with his neighbor's wife registering anxiety.

The important thing is to learn to take sweating philosophically, in any case. Some people become fussed up when they begin to sweat a little, because they harbor a false conception of sweating. They should learn that it is a sign of health and vigor and good functional efficiency to sweat with ease. It is a mistake to avoid sweating.

What ever kind of exercise you may rely on as daily medicine, make it snappy. If you take two miles of oxygen on the hoof do it with vim and vigor, step lively, maintain a smart posture and don't slouch or drag along. If the aim is to avoid exertion of course one can crawl a mile somehow without using the muscles any to speak of, but the right kind of walking brings nearly all the muscles into play and the same effect is obtained with less exertion. Thus an individual with enlarged or dilated veins (varicose veins) in the legs finds relief by a smart walk, whereas he makes matters worse by just ambling along in a listless stroll. Persons with low grade chronic rhinitis, who stuff up and run on going out in the cold, will generally find that if they stay out long enough and walk fast enough or otherwise make vigorous use of the muscles, the cold and rhinitis will disappear. Many a man or woman succumbs to such a demand on the reserve power of the heart simply because he or she has neglected exercise on the ground that exercise is just a fad.

When exercise is taken with enough spirit to bring on free sweating, that is proof that oxidation is increased by the exercise and one may know that various wastes or poisons are being burned up and made harmless—a physiological fact that does not apply to sweating artificially induced.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Diphtheria

We are having an epidemic of diphtheria in our village. If a family is quarantined with diphtheria can mail be taken from the house? Can one in the family who is not sick carry the germs?—(N. H. O.)

Answer—Letters or papers do not carry disease. A third person, who comes in contact with a diphtheria patient, may become a "carrier," that is, he may harbor the germs in his nose or throat, and communicate them to others, who, if susceptible, may contract the disease, altho the carrier himself remains immune.

The Patellar Reflex

Please tell me what is indicated by a response to a light blow on the tendon just below the kneecap when one sits with the knees crossed. (A. M.)

Answer—The kick of the leg which follows the tap on the tendon indicates a normal nerve conducting path and the absence of certain lesions of the spinal cord. Such a test is intelligently employed and interpreted only by a physician, and for any one else to attempt to draw conclusions from it can lead only to error.

The Sex of Nature

The initial sentence in one of your health talks was as follows: "Nature is very good surgeon. She keeps a sharp eye on him." In all seriousness when did Mother Nature change her sex? (W. L. S.)

Answer—Who said Mother Nature? A poet. I was personifying nature as a surgeon, and ordinarily we think of a surgeon as masculine. All the old poets were of the masculine sex, and when they wished to rave they had to have something feminine for inspiration, so they made nature feminine. To me nature is masculine, and I claim the right to keep him so.

Experiment in the Air

More American boys have been lost in the experiment of determining if a gas bag can be a reasonably safe carriage and if it is worth while to continue with the greater lift which is the advantage of the gas bag over the heavier-than-air machine. America is supposed to have the advantage over the rest of the world in its resources in helium, the non-inflammable gas. The Roma was charged with hydrogen when it blew up. Uninformed people have no comment they can make upon the loss of the Roma except as they may admire the fortitude and deplore the loss of the men who made the experiment with which the progress of man goes through its danger zone.—(CHICAGO TRIBUNE (Ind. ## Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

"Not a Sou" From France?

The "average" American Liberty-bond holder, the HARTFORD TIMES (Ind.) believes, will probably be not a little dashed at the assertion of Louis Loucheur, formerly a member of the French Cabinet under Briand, that France "will never be able to pay a 'sou' of its war debt to the United States. True, as the Canadian VANCOUVER PROVINCE points out, "this is not an official statement, but it is a very serious opinion, probably expressed with a political purpose." Nevertheless American editors generally feel with the PHILADELPHIA PUBLIC LEDGER (Ind.) that Loucheur "speaks for most of France" and was only "putting very bluntly what France has repeated to herself so often that she now believes it as true as the gospel." Coming just at a time when official action looking toward a funding of the European debt has been taken in the appointment of a commission, newspapers here regard this warning of the French attitude as distinctly discouraging.

The interest of the American Liberty-bond holder is pointed out further by the ANN ARBOR MICH. TIMES NEWS (Ind.), "has at least reached a point where it is necessary for it to get ready to repay its debts to the people of the United States, but 'unless the governments of Europe show some disposition to pay what they owe this country,' our government 'cannot pay what it owes its own people.' It is as the KALAMAZOO GAZETTE (Rep.) asserts, M. Loucheur expresses 'a view which has come to be practically unanimous in France,' a feeling that the United States not only cannot but 'should not be reimbursed for these vast war loans,' then, declares the LEXINGTON (Ind.) ## Public Quick to See in New CHANDLER SIX Notable Car at Low Cost

THE extent to which the public has been educated in motor car values, never had more striking proof than in the instant acceptance of the new Chandler car.

In all sections, urban or rural, the verdict of approval has been unanimous.

Motorists who thronged 'round the chassis were quick to point out the increased depth of frame, the staunchness of the rear axle, the transmission brake and other features of advanced construction.

Visitors also displayed a surprising ability to distinguish between genuine and solidly built cars, with richest appointments, and those where quality had been subordinated to make a lower selling figure.

Despite depressed conditions, Chandler retail sales for January were the biggest in Chandler history.

DENY RED CROSS WILL GIVE UP ITS NURSING SERVICE

Definite Program of Service for War Veterans Now Being Planned

Emphatic denial has been registered by Outagamie county Chapter of Red Cross that it is planning to discontinue its home nursing service. The denial was made following statements at a meeting of the county health committee Saturday that the Red Cross was contemplating discontinuing its service.

Red Cross has no idea of giving up its home nursing service, the statement from headquarters says. The demand for service from former service men is greater than ever and will constantly increase as roads become passable and men from the county can come to Appleton.

A definite and positive program of service is planned for war veterans in the county and the Red Cross and American legion are making plans for an intensive house to house campaign designed to visit every former service man and his family in the county.

The work of organizing this project is being done by the Red Cross cooperating with Oney Johnston post here and posts and war veterans in the county.

A meeting of representatives of all welfare associations and workers in Appleton will be held at the Red Cross headquarters at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon to discuss plans for maintaining nursing service here with Mrs. Gustave Keller, new welfare chairman of Red Cross. It was stated that Red Cross has continued its contribution to county nursing service by providing quarters and telephone for the county nurse. The county board has been asked to pay for this service but has not done so thus far and the Red Cross is keeping it up.

Routine Business
No business of special importance came before the public library board at its monthly meeting Tuesday evening. Bills were allowed and the librarian read her monthly report.

Alkali in Shampoos
Bad For Washing Hair

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulsified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get Mulsified at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.

$1.00 PACKAGE OF GENUINE YEAST VITAMINE TABLETS from your druggist today.

If you are thin and emaciated and wish something to help you put on flesh and increase your weight, Yeast Vitamine Tablets should be used in connection with organic iron. With organic iron both food and Vitamines are absolutely useless as your body cannot change inert, lifeless food into cells and tissue unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood. Organic iron takes up oxygen from your lungs. This oxygen it creates tremendous power and energy. Without organic iron in your blood your food merely passes thru your body without doing you any good.

Arrangements have been made with the druggists of this city to give every reader of this paper a large $1.00 package of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets absolutely free with every purchase of a bottle of Nuxated Iron.

MOOSE WANT TO SPEED UP THEIR NEW CLUBHOUSE

Fraternal Organization Elects Officers and Discusses Building Plans

Kaukauna.—A favorable report on the proposed new club house of the local order of Moose, together with drawings and plans made by George Smith, contractor, was presented at the regular meeting of the Loyal Order of Moose Monday evening in Odd Fellow hall. Officers for the coming year also were elected.

Charles Welter was elected dictator; Anton Mondy, vice dictator; E. J. Kenney, prolator; W. P. Smith, secretary; Peter Bergman, treasurer; Walter Romanesko, sergeant-at-arms; William Tousey, inner guard; Irvin Montal, outside guard. Installation of officers will be held at the next regular meeting.

Plans of the new Moose club house which were shown at the meeting were only tentative and no official action was taken. It is probable that other estimates will be considered before a contract is awarded.

There is considerable agitation for speed in the construction of the club house so that the building may be completed by next fall. It will consist of two stories and a basement, according to tentative plans. The ground floor will be devoted to lodge rooms, library, lounging rooms and office rooms for the lodge. There will be two large lodge meeting rooms, one for the Moose, the other to be rented to other organizations. The second story will contain an auditorium and dance hall almost twice as large as the city auditorium. The basement will be fitted up into large dining rooms and a kitchen.

The site chosen is on the north side on Lawest, on the edge of the park opposite the soldiers monument. The unsightly billboard which has been an eyesore to the street, will be torn down when construction on the building begins.

Don't Forget To Beat Fudge Long And Hard

"And beat, beat, beat," say the instructions in one of the fudge recipes given below. Many people do not beat their fudge enough to make sure that it will be smooth and creamy. Some failures in fudge making are due to the fact that the candy is boiled too long and then there is not enough opportunity to beat it.

CHOCOLATE FUDGE
2 cups sugar
2-3 cup milk
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
3 squares chocolate
Boil until it forms a soft ball in cold water, stirring occasionally to keep from burning. Remove from fire and add 2 tablespoons butter without stirring. Allow to cool, add 1 teaspoon vanilla, beat fudge until it loses its shiny appearance, pour into greased pan and mark in squares. Mrs. M. Springstroh, 1348 LaFayette-st.

MAPLE NUT FUDGE
2 cups granulated sugar
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup milk
Small piece of butter
Mix all together, and cook until it forms a soft ball in water, when taken from fire add 1/2 teaspoon maple flavor and 1/2 cup chopped nuts stir until it creams. Pour into buttered tins and mark in squares. If desired chopped nuts can be omitted and a half nut put on each square.—Chas. W. Peters, Hortonville, Route 1.

FUDGE
3 cups sugar
1-2 bar chocolate
3-4 cup milk
Butter size 2 eggs
Add nuts and flavor to suit.
Boil until it forms putty like batter without stirring. Cool before beating, when you can put your finger to bottom of pan. Beat, beat, beat, and pour onto a greased platter and cut in squares.—Mary Mullen, R. 4, Seymour.

FUDGE
1-2 cup bitter chocolate
2 cups sugar
1 cup milk
Butter size of a walnut, boil till hardens in cold water. Beat till creamy then add 1 teaspoon vanilla and put in buttered pans.—Anna T. Buerth, South Kaukauna.

FUDGE RECIPE
2 squares chocolate melted, 2 cups sugar, 2-3 cup milk, 2 tablespoons white syrup. Boil until it strings from the spoon, then add 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup chopped butternuts. Whip until it hardens and pour on a buttered platter and cut into squares.—Mrs. Platt Schmidt, Hortonville, R. 3.

DIVINITY FUDGE
2 cups sugar
3/4 cup syrup
3/4 cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped nut meats
3/4 lb. dates stoned and cut fine
2 eggs (whites only)
Cook sugar, syrup and water till crisp when tried in cold water. Beat the whites of the eggs in a large bowl, and pour the syrup slowly onto them, beating the whole till it begins to harden. Add the vanilla, nuts and dates. Spread quite thick on a shallow oiled tin. When cool cut in squares.—Miss A. C. Zschachner.

SYRUP FUDGE
2 squares or ounces chocolate
1/2 cup cold milk
2 cups granulated sugar
1-3 cup syrup
2 tablespoons vegetable oil
1 teaspoon vanilla
Grate the chocolate, and add all the ingredients except the vanilla. Cook slowly, stirring once in a while. Cook till it makes a soft ball in cold water requires about five minutes after actually boiling. Remove from fire, add the vanilla and beat until it begins to granulate. Pour at once into pan well oiled with vegetable oil. Mark into squares when nearly cold.—Miss A. C. Zschachner.

FUDGE
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup walnut meats
Butter the size of an egg
Pinch of salt
Mix sugar and cocoa thoroughly, add the milk, and cook without stirring over a slow fire until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove from fire and add the butter and salt. Let stand until cool, and then beat until creamy. Add nut meats and mold into a pan, kneading the fudge, if necessary.—Blanche Abbey, 426 Eldorado-st.

FUDGE
2 cups sugar white
1 cup milk
3/4 bar chocolate
Melt chocolate add sugar and allow it to heat. Add enough milk to moisten sugar, and let it come to boiling, stir constantly, add the rest of the milk and do not stir. Boil until it will form a soft ball in water and when nearly cold add butter the size of an egg.—Mrs. Ralph Tubbs, Seymour.

NEW TELEPHONE MANAGERS FOR TWO EXCHANGES

Hortonville Man Goes to Kaukauna and Appleton Man to Hortonville

Several changes in the management of Wisconsin Telephone company offices in this locality are announced by J. T. Quintan, district manager. Robert P. Brooks has been promoted from manager of the Hortonville exchange to that of head of Kaukauna exchange, succeeding Dwight L. Millard, who has resigned. Herbert Knutzen, an Appleton young man who has been assistant wire chief at the local office, has been promoted to the position of manager at Hortonville.

Clarence Richter succeeds Mr. Knutzen as assistant wire chief at Appleton and Clarence VanRyzin takes Mr. Richter's position. The single standard specifications under which all work of the American Telephone and Telegraph company is conducted has meant rapid progress in restoring damaged lines in the Appleton district. Mr. Quintan says he finds that the experts sent here from the east are just as efficient in handling the local situation as they would be in the east because of this standardization.

These men in charge of rebuilding toll wires are responsible for much of the accomplishments, according to Mr. Quintan: L. W. Gerdon and J. A. Brown, general foremen; H. E. Ethernard, J. Stickman, J. McSwiggan, J. Leonard, L. Lett, A. Ferguson and H. Schaublin, foremen.

Red Granite was reached with emergency service at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning and Green Lake at 11:30. Ripon was reached Monday night but emergency circuits were lost because of high water and ice. The high water at Fond du Lac caused the company to lose 600 pair cables, representing 2,400 wires. Service is to be restored immediately, however.

New Pole Line
The Wisconsin Telephone Co. is engaged in running a new line of poles from Kinnelon to Appleton to take the place of those damaged by the storm. The poles are being placed nearer together and are much heavier than those formerly used.

Typothetae Meeting
A meeting of Fox River Valley Typothetae will be held at Valley Inn, Neenah, at 7:30 Tuesday evening. John Stevens of Appleton will deliver an address on "Paper."

FAKE REPAIRMEN WORK AT NEENAH

Telephone Company Warns Against Men Who Charge for Services

Damage to telephone wires in Neenah by the recent sleet storm has been a source of income for fake telephone men, according to telephone officials, N. G. Willardson and Thomas F. Garland, who have warned patrons of the Wisconsin Telephone company against these swindlers.

Several cases have been reported to the company where men entered private homes, pretended to fix the disabled telephone and then charged a round sum for their "services." In their statement, the company officials said that these men are in no way connected with the telephone company. They warned the public against permitting them to touch their telephones.

It is said that the operations of these men may force the telephone company to supply its repairmen with credentials so that they may be distinguished from fakers. By this means patrons would know just who are the authorized agents of the company and who are not, just as in large centers where public utilities repair men are supplied with proper means of identification to safeguard the public against cheats and bogus collectors.

In their warning to the people, the telephone officials also stated that the company will be in no way responsible for losses incurred by their patrons in making payments to fake repairmen.

"The Wisconsin Telephone company," the statement said, "will repair disabled telephones at the earliest possible time and will make no charge to patrons for the service."

RESUME WORK SOON ON NEW PAPER WAREHOUSE

Appleton Coated Paper Co. is planning to resume building operations on its new 3-story warehouse as soon as weather conditions warrant. The foundation was partially completed last fall. According to officials of the company there has been very little change in the paper situation in the last few weeks.

THE FOUNDATION OF EVERY PROSPEROUS BUSINESS

RECENTLY the Chicago Journal of Commerce in an editorial discussion of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) as an example of modern American business, said:

"Three years ago the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) which does business in eleven states, adopted a wholesome publicity policy, not only to derive the natural benefits of advertising its products, but to acquaint the public with intimate information regarding the Company and its affairs. The fair dealing, justice and equity of its practices, the business principles which rule its conduct, have been published far and wide throughout the territory it serves. Its policies were frankly disclosed to promote the welfare and to secure and hold the confidence and esteem of its stockholders, employees, and the public. The Company has paid for this publicity service just as any other industrial or mercantile enterprise pays for its advertising, and with most gratifying results.

"This publicity campaign has been dubbed 'Good-Will advertising'—a happy phrase. Good-Will is the foundation of every prosperous business. Good-Will always contributes to profits and can be secured only by fair dealing, fair prices, and a rigid adherence to business ethics. In all these the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is a model of efficiency."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is performing a highly essential service in a highly specialized branch of industry. It is doing something that has to be done in a way that entitles it to the approval of the public it serves.

It is to the interest of the public as well as the Company that the Company should give a frank account of itself and of the stewardship of its seven Directors.

Hence this sustained campaign.

Happy Results in Both Cases

St. Joseph, Missouri.—"Both of my sides swelled and hurt me so that I could not move or do any of my work. There was heavy pressure and pains through my lower organs and the doctor told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for these troubles. He said I had this one chance, and if the Vegetable Compound did not help me nothing but an operation would. After taking several bottles I felt it was helping me and now I am able to do my own work. If my testimonial will help others I shall be glad for them to read it and hope your Vegetable Compound will do them as much good as it did me."—Mrs. WM. LOCKMAN, 513 N. 4th St., St. Joseph, Mo.

White Plains, N. Y.—"I had such a pain that I could hardly walk and the doctor said that I needed an operation. I was sick for a year before I started taking your medicine and I could not work. I saw your advertisement in a little book and that is how I came to take Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine. I have been taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine, also.

Some female troubles may through neglect reach a stage when an operation is necessary. But most of the commoner ailments are not the surgical ones; they are not caused by serious displacements, tumors, or growths, although the symptoms may appear the same.

When disturbing ailments first appear, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve the present distress and prevent more serious troubles. Many letters have been received from women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound after operations have been advised by attending physicians.

The WRONG FACE

By ISABEL OSTRANDER

"I cannot understand about those slippers, Sergeant Barry," she said. "They're—there's something wet, aren't they? I don't know how they came to be here."

"When did you wear them last?"

"I couldn't say; not since I left Paris, anyway. They were frightfully uncomfortable, and as soon as I reached home I threw them out; or at least I told Martha to do so. I cannot understand how they came to be still here in the room and in that condition. They must have been worn out in the rain."

"Sergeant Barry," she murmured, "I am very ill. Has the coroner performed the autopsy yet? Do they know how my cousin died?"

He paused for a moment. Should he tell her the truth and let her know how the evidence was piling up against her?

"Miss Tudor died from inhaling a noxious gas which caused suffocation and which we believe to have been generated out in the garage here," he said slowly. "That gas was in some way conveyed to this room and administered to your cousin."

"But how could that be?" she cried wildly. "Why was I not killed, too? Oh, I understand too what you mean about those slippers! You think that I wore them out to the garage last night in all that storm and did this terrible thing! Why could someone else not have thrown them there under the bed, thinking that they would not be discovered until an opportunity came to dispose of them? Why, if I were guilty, would I leave them where they could be so readily found?"

"Why would anybody?" she countered swiftly. "Who else in this household can wear your slippers, Miss Tudor?"

For an instant, as this irrefutable fact confronted her, the girl stood staring at him as though bereft of her senses. When she spoke her voice was carefully controlled. "I had not thought of that, sergeant, but you are right, of course. No one else in the family could have worn them, but whether you believe it or not, let me assure you that I did not wear them last night, or at any time within the past two or three weeks, and I am utterly innocent of any knowledge of my cousin's death."

"I have brought no accusation against you, Miss Tudor," the detective reminded her. "You have identified the slippers as your former property, and though they are wet and mud-stained you assert that you have not had them on in weeks. That is the situation as it stands, and I do not propose to annoy you with further questioning. I am sorry that you are ill. Did you speak of it to Doctor Green or the coroner?"

"No. It is nothing. My head felt queer and congested, and I discovered after the excitement had died down a little, that it ached violently." She hesitated. "I've had odd fits of dizziness, too, but I am sure they will pass away presently."

"Go and rest, by all means, Miss Tudor," Barry held the door open for her to pass him.

He stuck the little slippers, all wet and muddy as they were, into his hip pockets and descended the stairs to find the sheriff still in consultation with the bereaved mistress of the house, while the professor was walking up and down the porch, evidently awaiting the other's pleasure to depart.

"Professor, there is something I am anxious to find out about," Barry began. "What effect would carbon monoxide have upon one who had been only recently rendered insensible by it, or had merely received a whiff of it?"

"Headache, dizziness and nausea are the immediate results if the victim revives," Professor Samoylov responded. "Rest and fresh air will work their own cure in a short time."

Barry re-entered the house, to find the sheriff gazing with a puzzled expression at Mrs. Tudor, who was retreating up the stairs.

"Have you discovered anything new?" Barry asked.

"No, I haven't," said the sheriff testily. "I've been talking to her for the best part of an hour and finally I managed to get it out of her. It seems that though her husband was mourning for his brother who was killed at the front, wouldn't appear formally at the dance, Mrs. Tudor thought she caught sight of her out on the porch. She wasn't sure, and she wouldn't for the world have us think anything against the girl, but I could tell as plain as day that she suspected something against the girl, even though she wouldn't admit it."

The sheriff paused for breath, and Barry demanded:

"You mean that she thinks her niece overheard that talk about carbon monoxide and went directly and put it into practice?"

"Well, it would explain why Miss Tudor wasn't affected."

It was late afternoon when Sergeant Barry returned to the Tudor estate. He went behind the garage and to the rear of the tea house.

At his approach he discerned a slender black-gowned figure seated upon the steps of the little toy structure, and beside it a man with a pair of crutches at hand. He revealed the episode of the morning, when he and the lieutenant had come upon the same couple and the young officer had disclaimed all knowledge of the stranger.

Barry crept softly around the side of the tea house until he had reached a point where he could see without being himself seen. He halted in time to hear Pay Tudor remark:

"So you see, Captain Warren, what a fix I'm in. Those slippers would be enough evidence as themselves to send me to prison, I suppose, and that silly affair with Harry Cadmus two years ago, of which I have told you, would furnish a motive. Oh, it is like a horrible nightmare! To be suspected of such a terrible crime, and that against the little cousin I loved!"

Her voice broke, as though she found herself unable to continue, and again the detective marveled. Was the girl a consummate actress, or was hers indeed the grief and humiliation of being unjustly accused?

The captain evidently had no doubts on that score, for he took one of her hands in both of his, and she made no effort to withdraw it.

"That is what I have come to you for this afternoon, to save you from even the breath of suspicion, if I can."

"Captain Warren!" There was a pause, and then she added softly: "Did I tell you the other day that I went in the locked room where he used to sleep, and where all his belongings which you so kindly brought home to us have been placed? I saw his helmet and a hand grenade and even his gas mask, but there were stains upon it. It all seemed to bring him back so closely that I had an uncanny feeling that he must be here in the flesh somewhere near!"

Before the captain could reply Barry strode boldly around the corner, pausing in a confusion that would have done credit to an actor.

"Captain, this is the young police officer from town, of whom I spoke—Sergeant Barry, Captain Warren. The captain bowed stiffly.

"Captain Warren, I suppose you are familiar with the details of the crime?"

"Miss Tudor has told me all she knows," the captain responded thoughtfully.

"Have you any possible theory to advance? For this seems the most inexplicable case I have ever encountered."

"How about that chap who has been wandering about, stealing clothes and food and entering houses at will, without leaving any trace? I should think he was the most likely suspect if he were mentally deranged, for this murder appears to have been such a purposeless one." Captain Warren pondered for a moment. "To me the most puzzling part of the whole affair is how it was possible for one girl to be gassed and the other to escape."

"Perhaps that is the most easily explainable of all," he observed, and with a few perfunctory remarks he left them, his brain on fire with a fresh inspiration born of the chance use of a single word.

Gassed! One girl had been killed by the inhalation of noxious gas, and the other, sleeping near, had gone unscathed and there had been a gas mask in the house!

Barry entered the house by the back way and stole upstairs.

The dimness of the room at first made everything indistinguishable to his eyes, but gradually he saw the mantel with the gas mask upon it.

Approaching, he picked up the case containing the mask and carefully preserved any possible finger prints, and as he opened it a faint but unmistakable odor assailed his nostrils, the odor of carbon monoxide gas!

CHAPTER IX

Sergeant Barry turned the gas mask case over and over in his hands. His intuition had been right after all. Pay Tudor was innocent beyond any doubt, for had she asphyxiated her cousin she need not have gone to the trouble of donning the gas mask, she could simply have closed the windows and doors, allowed the care to seep out, and left the room until it had done its work.

As he took the mask from its case he noted that it had not been replaced in the proper manner, but had been thrust in with every evidence of haste. A careful examination revealed no finger marks upon the mask itself, but upon the case several were visible.

He crossed the hall to the room in which the tragedy had occurred. There he commenced an elaborate search.

His efforts seemed to meet with no success, for, shaking his head doubtfully, he entered the bathroom, where he scrutinized the shelves and medicine chests.

At last he seized upon a small pasteboard box and opened it, disclosing half a dozen white powders wrapped separately in a filmy substance resembling oiled paper.

With a little exclamation of satisfaction, his hand fell upon a tiny porcelain jar with a foreign label, and as he gingerly unscrewed the top a faint odor of fresh rose leaves floated out upon the air.

ORIGINATOR OF KIDS' TOYS JUST DOTES ON KIDDIES

Mrs. Grace Gebbie Drake Happiest When Surrounded by Children

By Bob Dorman
New York — "Love children?" "Why, could just eat 'em." "They are so cute and cunning, with their little fat legs, their round fat faces, and the little chubby arms that they always want to throw around your neck and run your blouse."

"I am never so happy as when I am surrounded by just loads of children." That is what Grace Gebbie Drake, originator of Dolly Drake and Bobby Blake, the Dolly Dingle cutouts and other kiddie features, thinks of the little tots that her work is designed to please.

ALWAYS HAPPY
Mrs. Drake firmly believes that the greatest happiness to be found in life is in giving pleasure to others.

"So many people are continually telling me that they like the little kids I draw, that I am always happy," says she.

"Sometimes for days at a time I shut myself up and work, work, work. Just a little time for eating and sleeping."

"I sometimes feel as if I must be crazy, for when the bug seizes me I just have to pitch in."

From every nook and corner of Mrs. Drake's magnificent apartment peek drawings of round-faced youngsters with big eyes and dimpled cheeks. And looking at Mrs. Drake herself, looking only the little gingham waist, short dress and rolled down socks, one can almost believe that one of the drawings has come to life.

For her drawings are merely caricatures of herself.

"My first drawings were made when I was 8 years old," says she. "and they were made of my own face as reflected in a mirror. I was so inquisitive at home that mother sent me to school, at the convent of Notre Dame in Philadelphia, where we lived. In class I would make these little sketches and pass them around."

"Since those school days I have continued sketching, varying it with painting and modeling."

"I am fortunate in that ideas come to me without effort."

"Take this doll (it was a Cuddle Bunny, one of her late designs). I was not feeling well one night and was in bed. I got hold of an old pillow case and some cotton batting. I cut out the doll, stuffed it, and painted in the features. Then I placed it on the market. It has been a big success."

"That is the way ideas come."

Adventures Of The Twins

Santa's Thanks

Everything was ready for Christmas at last.

The toy-maker had carefully put the last crystal ball into the Santa's magic sack which held the toys, and crowded the last jugglingjack into the other sack which held the gifts.

Pim Pim had brought the reindeer around to Santa's front door and Kip had helped to hitch them to the wonderful sleigh.

"The chimney sweep had come with his worn-out broom, bringing the news that every chimney was ready. Sprinkle-Blow, the fairy weather man had sent North Wind with the news that snow had already begun to fall and Santa himself was but-tomming up his great coat, preparing for his long, cold ride."

"Nancy and Nick, come here!" called the jolly old fellow. "Oh, there you are! Nancy, did you get all the holes darned?"

"Yes, Mr. Santa," answered the lit-tle girl, "and here is your magic needle. I found ever and ever so many stockings that needed darn-ing."

"Thank you my dear," said Santa Claus. "Now, Nickie, did you find any more notes in the chimneys?"

"Nick had, as we know, and handed them over to Santa. Claus who stuffed them into his pocket."

"And now, Nickie," nodded the kindly old saint. "I want to thank you and to tell you what a help you have been. Christmas is, of course, more or less magic, but greater than all its mystery is its wonderful spirit of unselfishness, and that is what you Twins have been. The real spirit of Christmas, for you have never once thought of yourselves."

"Goodbye, now. Wish yourselves home and may you have happy holidays. I want to see you again, for when I come down your chimney, you will be asleep. Merry time and carthime being in no way alike, no doubt you have never been missed."

With that he kissed them and was gone.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

Today's word is CHEVALIER.
It is pronounced—"shev-a-lee"—with accent on the last syllable.
It means—a nobleman, a chivalrous man, a cavalier, a gallant, a "perfect gentleman."

It comes from—French—"chevalier," a knight.
It is used like this—"To make a good impression on women, you should have the manners of a chevalier."

THE McCORMICK'S NEW RELATIONS

New international relationships will be born of the coming marriage of Miss Mathilde McCormick, heiress to the McCormick and Rockefeller millions, and Max Oser, Swiss riding master.

To begin with Miss McCormick will acquire some unsuspected "in-laws" right in Chicago.

These new relations include Emil L. Burgi and his wife, Mrs. Sophia Burgi, cousins in law to be and their daughter, Miss Helen Burgi, second cousin-in-law to be, who are pictured above.

Burgi, an interior decorator, says he is a first cousin of Oser's.

He said a lot more than that, too, when Mathilde's father, Harold P. McCormick, failed to wax enthusiastically over Burgi's effort to pay his respects at the McCormick mansion on the Gold Coast.

"My family have proud names," he said. "My great grandfather was a general in the French army and my grandfather was with Napoleon."

Burgi says his father was a brother of Oser's mother. Dispatches say Oser is but 43, but Cousin Burgi has said he really is 37.

TOO LATE NOW TO CAPITALIZE MAIN STREET IN MOVIES

By James W. Dean
New York. — Arrangements have finally been made for the filming of "Main Street," the Sinclair Lewis story which proved to be the best seller of last year.

The announcement of the filming states that the movie will be ready by next season. That will make the picture two seasons old.

Terms of the deal which gives film rights to Warner Brothers are not made public. It was held for sale on a percentage basis by the Shuberts on the screen two seasons beyond the peak of its popularity in book form lessons its value. It will be state stuff then, the book and the stage version having sapped its interest.

Then, too, the public point of view will have changed. This is manifested in the cycle movements of styles of literature and drama.

Closely following "Main Street" in point of interest at the time of its great popularity were "Moon Cal" by Floyd Dell, and "Miss Lulu Bett" by Zona Gale. The small town was the setting of each of these.

Interest in "small town" fiction was on the wane when William Dudley Pelly wrote "The Fog," which, in the opinion of this writer, was a far truer document of small town life than any of the three aforementioned books.

"The Fog" was not a "best seller" because the literary geographical center had shifted from Gopher Prairie to the South Sea islands when it was published.

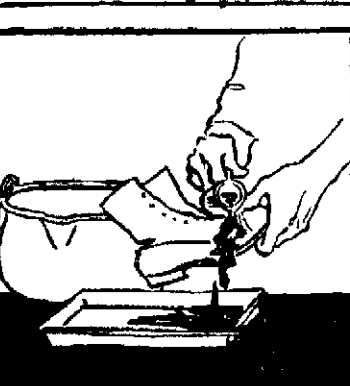

Then literature moved into a new cycle with such books as "The Growth of the Soul" by Knut Hamsen; "The Outline of History" by H. G. Wells, and "Back to Methuselah" by George Bernard Shaw.

The movies will probably have one of this latter group sometime in 1924 or 1925. Half a dozen movies set in the South Sea islands have been made, but will not be released for several months.

No matter what technical or dramatic advance is made by the screen it cannot claim recognition with the other arts until it creates its own new styles or at least keeps abreast of literary and stage styles.

The stage keeps abreast of literature when it is not setting the pace for the written art. The theater could be now producing in New York Shaw's "Back to Methuselah." That book contains too much material for one night's performance, so it is being produced in three parts.

SPARE TIME JOBS FOR FATHER

When the little folks get out in the rain with boots on, water some times seeps in at the soles.

You can make these waterproof by using a mixture of equal parts of mutton fat, beeswax and sweet oil. Put this on the soles until it is well blended. Then let it cool. Apply on the boots, particularly where they are seamed and at the place where the soles and uppers come together.

Household Hints

FINE CHINA

Are you having difficulty with the colors on your fine china? Are they fading and wearing off entirely? The remedy is to cease using such strong soap in your kitchen and to avoid using scalding water on the dishes.

VASES

With the season of flowers so near at hand one must begin to think of a supply of vases. Gather up all of those left from last year and in supplementing your supply be sure that you get ones of different sizes than those which you already have.

ADD VANILLA

Add a few drops of vanilla to the coffee tomorrow morning. It gives rather a new and pleasing taste.

LEMON JUICE

A little lemon juice added to the prunes as they are being stewed adds a delightful tang to their flavor.

FRESH FRUIT SALAD

Fresh strawberries add a delicious flavor to the fresh fruit salad with which you are using a whipped cream or sweet dressing.

MENDING GLOVES

Cotton thread is better than silk for mending kid gloves. The silk is very liable to cut the kid. Cotton does not.

Has $1,000 To Give Away But Can't Do It

Chicago. — John R. Thompson, millionaire chain restaurant owner, is trying to get rid of $1000. And he can't!

Last year Thompson offered $1000 to anyone who could show him a valid reason why revelers should be tolerated. Thompson holds they're really useful only to crooks.

Now Thompson is buried daily under an avalanche of letters from claimants of the $1000. Often he gets 1000 letters postmarked from Alaska to Maine in one day.

But no one has qualified for the $1000 award.

Why fade at 30?

Youthful maturity may exert a charm which youth alone can rival. And certainly no woman should allow her youthful freshness to fade just when the joy of living should be at its height.

Keep your school-girl complexion and you can forget the passing years. The woman with a fresh, radiant skin will always seem young.

How to keep it—this is simple, as Cleopatra could tell you. The secret lies in daily intelligent care which will make beauty life-long.

How Cleopatra kept young

Girlhood days had long passed when the beautiful Egyptian reached the height of her fame and loveliness. Her charm grew greater with the years.

She knew how to care for and keep the smooth, flawless complexion which makes the possessor seem ever young.

Her method—thorough cleansing with the soothing oils discovered in ancient Egypt. Whatever cosmetics this queen of beauty used, the foundation was a skin free from all injurious accumulations.

Why your face needs washing

Because the accumulation of dirt, oil and perspiration must be removed or they will ruin your skin. To let them collect in the pores is to invite complexion troubles.

Inevitably such deposits soon cause enlarged pores and coarse texture results. The dirt forms blackheads and carries infections which cause blotches.

The more powder you use to conceal this condition the worse it grows, for this only increases the clogging. Lotions and cold creams won't help—you must remove the cause.

Gentle cleansing with Palmolive will soon improve the condition, and don't be afraid to be thorough.

Massage the cosmetic lather into the skin so that it may remove every trace of injurious soil.

If your skin is dry, apply cold cream

after cleansing. Oily skins won't require such applications.

Throat, neck, shoulders

Need the same beautifying cleansing, for complexion beauty doesn't stop with the face.

Bathe with Palmolive and keep your skin smooth and white. It is a luxury all can afford.

For with all its fineness, its mild, soothing qualities, its gentle cosmetic action, Palmolive isn't an expensive soap. Popularity keeps the price low.

10 cents a cake

This modest sum is possible through gigantic production which keeps the Palmolive factories working day and night and the importation of the bland mild oils in reducing volume.

Thus this finest facial soap, which if made in small quantities would cost at least 25 cents, is offered at the price of ordinary soap.

BUSINESS PICKING UP, HAYTON COMPANY SAYS

The Hayton Pump and Blower Co. has received several orders for pumps during the last two weeks from different parts of the country which gives officers the impression that business, particularly in the paper line, is picking up. # WILL TO WRESTLE FAST MAT ARTIST

Hackenschmidt Says He Will Throw Appleton Man in Match Friday Night

George Hill, Appleton heavyweight grappler, who meets Herman Hackenschmidt of Beaver City, Neb., in the main event of a wrestling show Friday night in Armory G, will enter the ring against the Nebraska athlete tipping the beam at about 205 pounds. Hill weighed 210 pounds following his workout Tuesday afternoon and expects to take off the extra four pounds Wednesday night. Thursday which will put him at his best wrestling weight.

Hill will outweigh Hackenschmidt about 10 pounds in the match as the Nebraska man says he will come in at 195 pounds. Hackenschmidt declares his speed, cleverness and aggressive, ness will more than make up for the ten pounds in weight and predicts he will down the Appleton man in straight falls inside the two hour limit.

Hill said Tuesday he will be in the best shape of his career when he takes the mat Thursday night. The Appleton man has trained every day since his match with Mahmut a month ago and started the hard grind Monday in condition to get himself on edge with a few days of work. He declares he is stronger and faster than Hackenschmidt and will surely pin the invader's shoulders to the mat.

Cars in Collision
Carl Gerlach had the radiator of his car damaged Tuesday in a collision on Appleton Little (Chute) road, with a car driven by E. J. Morrow. The driver escaped injury.

BRANDT STARTS LINING UP CLUB FOR FLAG RACE

Signs Players Who Will Wear Appleton Uniform on Diamond This Year

August Brandt, who holds the Appleton franchise in Fox River Valley Baseball league, is lining up his team for this season. He will use several members of last year's club but has a number of new men signed up who will try for places on the team.

It is planned to start practice about the middle of April. All of last year's players will be given an opportunity to make places on the club and the new men will be given thorough tryouts.

Joe Schott of Milwaukee is the only catcher on the Appleton club roster at present. The pitchers include H. Schultz of Milwaukee, who pitched for Appleton last season, and Clyde Seib, star twirler for the Staleys of Decatur, Ill., for the last two years.

The infielders are G. Beyer of De Pere, Gus Mudlaff of Milwaukee, E. Word of Neenah, M. Lamers and T. Lamers of Little Chute, J. Kuenn of New London, A. Remmel of Hortonville, Dan Flanagan of Bear Creek, H. Sylvester of Appleton and Andy Lee of Appleton. A crack left hander will stop a rally that is being staged at the expense of a right hander.

Spring Training Gossip

By Billy Evans
On the trail of the lonesome southpaw.

A lot of major league managers are singing that ditty in the southland.

No major league club considers its pitching staff quite complete unless it boasts a crack southpaw.

It is a rather unusual fact that a number of big league ball teams lacked such an individual last year.

As a matter of fact the two leading clubs in the American last year, New York and Cleveland, were minus a consistent left hander.

The presence of a crack southpaw on a ball club means much. It enables the manager to offer a diversified assortment of pitching. A crack left hander is a threat that can be used to advantage in many directions.

Often in every circuit there are a couple of clubs very weak against southpaws. A crack left hander has no trouble taming such a club into submission in a couple of games in every series.

Why March is Most Dangerous
March is the most dangerous month of the year because the change of season is more than a good many systems can stand. Too often it is true that the sick "last only till spring." But if the system is fortified, if the impurities are driven from the blood, and the nerve tissues fed with wholesome food, some and strength is gained.

There are runners on first and third and two men out. The batsman doubles to left field. The runner on third crosses the plate. The runner on first goes to third on the hit, but fails to touch second. The ball is thrown to that base, and the umpire declares the runner out for his failure to touch second. That makes the third out, retiring the side. Does the run that crossed the plate count?

The run does not count. The failure of the runner to touch second base on his way to third made a force play at that base for the third out of the inning. The rules say that no runs can score on a third out that is a force play.
